CIRRINA is a modern dining chair for the public spaces segment. The angled back and seat, curved according to the contours of the body, help you achieve a comfortable position. Their smooth forms were suggested by nature itself: the direct prototype of the chair was the deep-sea octopus (lat. Cirrina).

The main material chosen is thin sheet metal, which, when bent correctly, creates a very durable structure. CIRRINA chairs can be stacked. Back and seat material: oak wood/leather.
