The inspiration for the Krater table (from the Greek for "ancient Greek bowl") was the rebellious nature of our cat, who prefers to sleep in secluded places. His calling card was a floor bowl, seemingly twisted from paper into a simple origami figure. The resulting free space under the countertop will become a cozy resting place for your pet, and is also ideal for storing useful little things. The table was chosen for the Ukrainian collective stand Diffusion as part of the Paris Design Week 2018.
