- Designed and manufactured in Ukraine, with love!

The name of the floor lamp reflects its essence - it means "armature" in English. Fitments does not try to disguise the metal construction and sharp corners from view. On the contrary, it captivates with its simple moulding of geometric shapes that create an impression of lightness and airiness. From the point of view of the Language of things, the open-framed lamp has become a challenge to prejudice. It is the intuitive urge of modern people for things that are minimally decorative, as simple as possible, but not boring. The evolution of lighting came down to the victory of a single bulb, which symbolises the triumph of the light source itself over the decor that complemented it.
